

That feeling when you see a pupil's face light up with curiosity.

NPQ for Early Years Leadership (NPQEYL)

There is no time more critical in a child's life than their early years.

As the leader of an early years provision, you have the ability to shape their experience, contribute to developing their personal wellbeing and sense of security, and prime them to be ready to learn in a school environment.

Through the NPQEYL, you will develop your knowledge of how children learn and develop, hear from colleagues who have proven track records in working with very young children and babies, as well as visiting exemplary settings to learn more about how leaders have created the environment and learning space for children to thrive. You will benefit from actionable take-aways you can use immediately in your setting, as well as preparing for your future career development.

You'll learn how to:

- ✔ Establish and sustain your nursery's strategic direction.
- ✔ Embed an excellent culture in your nursery.
- ✔ Develop a high-quality curriculum which supports the development of very young children, including their language development, communication and literacy.
- ✔ Support children's behaviour and social and emotional development in your setting.
- ✔ Monitor the progress children are making in your setting, and how to ensure all pupils' needs are met without creating unnecessary workload.
- ✔ Develop your colleagues' practice.
- ✔ Work effectively with internal and external stakeholders.
- ✔ Manage all the operational aspects of running a nursery, including safeguarding, admissions, risk management, HR and finance.

About us:

The National Institute of Teaching is a teacher and leader training and development provider.

Founded by four of the country's most respected school trusts, we are run by schools, for schools. Our aim is to boost the quality of teacher and leader development by generating and interpreting research, applying the insights to the design and delivery of our programmes, and sharing this with the sector.

How you'll learn:

Local seminars

Masterclasses

Virtual school visits

Group coaching

Self study

Our programmes are:

Designed with expertise from the frontline.

Structured to fit around teachers' busy schedules.

Powered by research; global experience applied to unique local contexts.

I feel more confident in having professional conversations around moving forward in my role. I feel like I have more ideas to share and implement in my practice.
